17 SEC. 4. SENSE OF CONGRESS ON THE CONTINUITY OF GOV-

- 18 ERNMENT AND THE SMOOTH TRANSITION OF 19 EXECUTIVE POWER.
- 20 (a) FINDINGS.—Congress finds that—
- 21 (1) members of the Senate, regardless of polit-22 ical party affiliation, agree that the American people 23 deserve a Government that is failsafe and foolproof, 24 and that terrorists should never have the ability to 25 disrupt the operations of the Government;

12

14

15

- (2) continuity of governmental operations in the wake of a catastrophic terrorist attack remains a pressing issue of national importance before the United States Congress;
 - (3) at a minimum, terrorists should never have the ability, by launching a terrorist attack, to change the political party that is in control of the Government, regardless of which party is in power;
 - (4) whenever control of the White House shall change from one political party to another, the outgoing President and the incoming President should work together, and with the Senate to the extent determined appropriate by the Senate, to ensure a smooth transition of executive power, in the interest of the American people;
 - (5) under the current presidential succession statute in section 19 of title 3, United States Code, the members of the cabinet, defined as the heads of the statutory executive departments under section 101 of title 5, United States Code, fall within the line of succession to the presidency;
 - (6) during previous presidential transition periods, the incoming President has had to serve with cabinet members from the prior administration, including subcabinet officials from the prior adminis-

- tration acting as cabinet members, for at least some period of time;
 - (7) the Constitution vests the appointment power of executive branch officials in the President, by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, and nothing in this resolution is intended to alter either the constitutional power of the President or the constitutional function of the Senate with regard to the confirmation of presidential nominees;
 - (8) an incoming President cannot exercise the constitutional powers of the President, in order to ensure a smooth transition of Government, until noon on the 20th day of January, pursuant to the terms of the twentieth amendment to the Constitution;
 - (9) cooperation between the incoming and the outgoing President is therefore the only way to ensure a smooth transition of Government;
 - (10) Congress throughout history has acted consistently and in a bipartisan fashion to encourage measures to ensure the smooth transition of executive power from one President to another, such as through the enactment of the Presidential Transition Act of 1963 (3 U.S.C. 102 note; Public Law 88–277) and subsequent amendments;

- (11) Congress has previously concluded that "[t]he national interest requires" that "the orderly transfer of the executive power in connection with the expiration of the term of office of a President and the inauguration of a new President . . . be ac-complished so as to assure continuity in the faithful execution of the laws and in the conduct of the af-fairs of the Federal Government, both domestic and foreign" under the Presidential Transition Act of 1963 (3 U.S.C. 102 note; Public Law 88–277);
 - (12) Congress has further concluded that "[a]ny disruption occasioned by the transfer of the executive power could produce results detrimental to the safety and well-being of the United States and its people" under the Presidential Transition Act of 1963 (3 U.S.C. 102 note; Public Law 88–277);
 - (13) Congress has previously expressed its intent "that appropriate actions be authorized and taken to avoid or minimize any disruption" and "that all officers of the Government so conduct the affairs of the Government for which they exercise responsibility and authority as (1) to be mindful of problems occasioned by transitions in the office of the President, (2) to take appropriate lawful steps to avoid or minimize disruptions that might be occa-

- 1 sioned by the transfer of the executive power, and
- 2 (3) otherwise to promote orderly transitions in the
- 3 office of President" under the Presidential Transi-
- 4 tion Act of 1963 (3 U.S.C. 102 note; Public Law
- 5 88–277);
- 6 (14) the National Commission on Terrorist At-
- 7 tacks Upon the United States established under title
- 8 VI of the Intelligence Authorization Act for Fiscal
- 9 Year 2003 (6 U.S.C. 101 note; Public Law 107–
- 10 306) expressly recognized the need to "Improve the
- 11 Transitions between Administrations" in its final re-
- port;
- 13 (15) the Commission specifically recommended
- that, "[s]ince a catastrophic attack could occur with
- little or no notice, we should minimize as much as
- possible the disruption of national security policy-
- making during the change of administrations by ac-
- celerating the process for national security appoint-
- ments" and that "the process could be improved sig-
- 20 nificantly so transitions can work more effectively
- and allow new officials to assume their new respon-
- sibilities as quickly as possible";
- 23 (16) the Commission suggested that "[a] presi-
- dent-elect should submit lists of possible candidates
- for national security positions to begin obtaining se-

1 curity clearances immediately after the election, so 2 that their background investigations can be complete before January 20", that "[a] president-elect should 3 submit the nominations of the entire new national 5 security team, through the level of under secretary 6 of cabinet departments, not later than January 20", 7 that "[t]he Senate, in return, should adopt special 8 rules requiring hearings and votes to confirm or re-9 ject national security nominees within 30 days of 10 their submission", and that an outgoing Administra-11 tion should work cooperatively with an incoming 12 President to ensure a smooth transition, in the in-13 terest of national security; and

- (17) there is no more important national security position than the office of President, and thus it is essential to national security that any new administration establish its own clear and stable line of succession to the presidency as quickly as possible.
- 19 (b) SENSE OF CONGRESS.—It is the sense of the Sen-20 ate that during the period preceding the end of a term 21 of office in which a President will not be serving a suc-22 ceeding term—
- 23 (1) that President should consider submitting 24 the nominations of individuals to the Senate who are

16

- selected by the President-elect for offices that fall within the line of succession;
 - (2) the Senate should consider conducting confirmation proceedings and votes on the nominations described under paragraph (1), to the extent determined appropriate by the Senate, between January 3 and January 20 before the Inauguration; and
 - (3) that President should consider agreeing to sign and deliver commissions for all approved nominations on January 20 before the Inauguration to ensure continuity of Government.
